You'll also need:

Loose leaf rings
Book bindings and binder

Be ready for the unexpected with a student emergency reference book. Attach a photo of each student to a Freestyle Frame accent and write his or her emergency information on back (see inset photo). Bind it along the edge, book-style. Take this book on all outings. Keep it at your desk for reference, too.

Help hardworking chaperones with student-name key rings. Write the name of each child on a Key Mini Accent. Divide accents into groups and put them on loose-leaf rings (available at office supply stores). Chaperones can attach these key rings to purse straps or belt loops. They'll appreciate a handy way to keep track of headcounts and student names.

Teachers can make a master key ring with the names of chaperones and students on Key Classic Accents®. This set of keys can be hung from a teacher's belt loop, purse strap, or clipboard for quick group checks throughout the day.

Classroom Guidebook

Then, invite students to tour the room before their first day, and compare the pictures in the book to the things in the classroom.
